Attorney General's Opinion Cited As Factor

CISD Attorney Expects Favorable Ruling From State Commissioner

Attorney for the Canyon School District said he expects the Texas Commissioner of Education to reverse a county school board decision allowing Amarillo School District to annex CISD land in light of a recent state attorney general's ruling on the case.

Elton Cox of Canyon said this week that under the opinion rendered by the attorney general last week, a petition for annexation of 176 acres of development property by the AISD was incorrectly drawn. This, he said, he expects to lead to the education commissioner's reversal of a county school board decision to allow the annexation.

The ruling from the commissioner is expected at any time.

M.L. Brockette, commissioner of education, received a copy of the attorney general's opinion given last week to Randall County Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod concerning the annexation of school lands.

Cox said one part of the opinion bears directly on the disputed attempt by Amarillo School District to annex the 176-acre tract from the Canyon district. The annexation effort, okayed by the county school board last November, was appealed by the Canyon school board in January before the commissioner of education, who has appellate jurisdiction.

The attorney general opinion states, in summary: "Where territory sought to be detached from an independent school district contained no scholastics according to the last scholastic census, it can not be detached unless a majority of the trustees of the district from which it is to be detached sign the petition to detach."

Cox sees that opinion as a key point in his argument that the petitioners' request that their land be annexed by Amarillo be denied by the commissioner of education.

The CISD attorney contends that no school children (scholastics) resided in the 176-acre tract for which detachment is sought at the time of the last scholastic census.

Canyon school officials said the last census of school children was taken in 1970.

Developer Glenn O'Dell, a prime mover in the petition effort to have his 176 acres detached from Canyon and attached to Amarillo, built his first home in the tract in May 1974, according to tax office data.

Cox contends that, under the attorney general's ruling, if no school children lived in the tract in 1970, then a majority of the members of the Canyon School Board are required by law to sign the petition to detach the 176 acres before the county school board can accept the petition as valid.

The Canyon School Board has continually voiced its disapproval of the detachment of property from the CISD, and approved the appeal of the county school trustees' decision.

Cox said he expects the commissioner of education to abide by the attorney general ruling.

The opinion states further: "We are advised by the attorney for the Canyon Independent School District that no scholastics resided in the territory sought to be detached at the time of the last scholastic census . . . if it is correct that the scholastic population of that territory at the time of the last scholastic census was zero . . . the territory could not be detached unless the petition to detach is signed by a majority of the Trustees of the Canyon Independent School District as required . . ."

Sherrod said he will await the decision of Brockette on the county school board's action before advising the county board on the matter. He would not admit the board is vulnerable on the point.

If Brockette over-rules the county board's approval of the petition, the petitioners have the right to appeal to the state board of education.

Cox said he believes the state board will also abide by the attorney general's ruling. If that happens, the petitioners would also have an appeal route into

HUD Errs In Fund Math; City To Get No Money

There is no money available for community development programs under federal auspices in Canyon and cities like Canyon due to an error in computation by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

City officials were notified of the error Tuesday when they were told their pre-application for HUD funds for a street paving program in West Canyon will not be considered for funding.

The HUD announcement provided an ironic denouement to the months long effort by City of Canyon officials to obtain funds from a pool they at one time believed to contain at least $760,000 earmarked for the city's use.

George Loudder, executive director of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission in Amarillo, explained that the federal error in calculations means there is no money now and possibly no money will be allocated in the future for community development programs in cities like Canyon.

Canyon city officials indicated they may join with other cities in like circumstances to fight the federal decision not to allocate funds when the reason for the lack of funds is due entirely to federal error.

Loudder said Canyon is in a unique category in HUD's community development system because it falls within the metropolitan area of Amarillo.

He said he was told by HUD officials that in preparing preliminary calculations for funding levels, the department failed to allocate enough funds for cities which were already receiving community development funds under other programs.

Their under-estimate of the funding needs for that type city led to the depletion of all funds earmarked for cities like Canyon which lie in other cities' metropolitan areas.

"I talked to them yesterday," he said, "and they're holding all the pre-applications. They won't review them until there is some funding."

That means Canyon's pre-application, submitted in February and calling for funds to pave several streets in West Canyon, has not even been examined by HUD officials.

"There are several things in Congress and there'll be a lawsuit or two filed on funding for these particular cities," he said.

Loudder said Canyon cannot compete for any other HUD funding under the community development program.

"They're the only cities in the county with no funding under community development," he said.

Canyon City Manager Glen Metcalf was disappointed in the word from HUD.

"It doesn't look like there's any money," he said.

Metcalf said some 25 or 30 cities in the Dallas area are also without funding due to the federal mistake and he said "they are going to Washington to ask for additional funds to be allocated to these cities that due to a miscalculation will receive no federal funds at all."

Metcalf said Canyon's only hope for funding under the program "is that their appeals to Washington will have some effect and draw attention to these cities.

"If our participation with them would enhance our chances of receiving some funds, I'd be willing to do whatever is necessary," he said.

He described the city's chances for community development funds as limited.

"I'm certainly not counting on

Plant Burns Wednesday In Canyon

A large warehouse and plant building of Fassauer Industries in Northwest Canyon was destroyed by fire just before 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Fire Chief Jack Jennings said the building and contents were a total loss.

The steel building structure remained standing, but portions of the roof and sides were warped and heavily damaged by the blaze, which spewed black smoke over the northwestern part of town.

Jennings said a large number of merchandise cartons and contents were also destroyed in the blaze.

The office and laboratory portion of Fassauer Industries sustained water and smoke damage but firemen managed to contain the blaze to the steel plant building.

Jennings said he does not know how the fire started.

Thirty firemen answered the 8 a.m. call to the fire and all available units including the fire department's snorkel unit were dispatched to the scene.

When firemen arrived they found the roof of the structure ablaze with fire roaring into the air. Smoke billowed between roof and walls and from under locked garage doors.

Entrance to the plant area was gained after fireman, unable to Canyon volunteer firemen used a fire truck for a battering ram early Wednesday as they attempted to gain entrance to the plant part of Fassauer Industries here. The blaze, reported about 7:50 a.m., gutted the building.

Treasurer Hits Commission, May Defy New System Orders

Randall County Treasurer Bob McClendon, ired by a county commission decision to alter the bookkeeping responsibilities in county government, indicated Monday he may defy the commission's proposal.

"It has no force under the law," McClendon told The News after meeting with commissioners to discuss the allocation of duties between the county treasurer and the county auditor. "Under the law, the treasurer's duties are set forth and it's not implemented just because the commissioners say it's implemented."

McClendon balked at a commission decision to allocate the bookkeeping chores to the treasurer, leaving the auditor, who in the past has performed the bookkeeping, to purely auditing duties.

He said following the meeting with commissioners he's not sure he'll go along with their program, outlined during the regular session by Bill Francis of the outside auditing firm of Doshier, Francis and Pickens of Amarillo.

Keeping the county's books, McClendon said, would require the hiring of another full-time employee for his office.

"I wasn't elected to create a bureaucracy," he said. "I was elected to try to save the county some money and things seemed to be working out alright."

McClendon was elected county treasurer in November after running a campaign during which he promised that if elected he would work to abolish his office. McClendon is an attorney with offices in Canyon and Amarillo.

"They're trying to create another job and I don't go for it," he said of the commissioners' action. He suggested that it might be feasible to abolish the office of the county auditor, consolidating functions in his treasurer's office.

"If I can't help Randall County save money one way, we might do it another," he said.

McClendon charged that the Francis firm, which worked out the division of labor concept presented to commissioners during their Monday session, proposed the new concept "to justify their fee."

He said the firm charged the county $2750 to perform a performance audit last summer and to make suggestions on a new bookkeeping system for the treasurer's and auditor's offices.

"I'm wondering if this will really increase the efficiency of Randall County's operations at all," McClendon said. "Now we have all the county commissioners looking at bills, and department heads can look at them, and the auditor has the right to question them and in the treasurer's office, if something doesn't look right I'm not going to pay it."

Francis, during the commission meeting, outlined a new procedure for handling county

Cloud Seeding Activity Said Harming Buff Lake

Cloud seeding to stop hail over Hale County, which some county farmers and ranchers have charged has reduced rainfall in Randall County, emerged this week as the possible culprit in the decline of Buffalo Lake, once a favorite area summer fishing and swimming retreat.

The county health officer and the county judge pointed the finger at activities of the Plains Weather Improvement Association of Hart as the reason for the recent water problems at the lake, which has been allowed to dry up after 40 years as a viable fishing and boating resort.

Dr. Dudley Moore, Randall County health officer, in a letter this week to the Texas Water Quality Board asked that the hail suppression activities in the area be eyed as the possible cause of the lack of rainfall on the watershed which empties into Buffalo Lake.

Moore charged that if there is no water run-off into the lake, the reservoir "becomes a cesspool."

He told The News that the conditions at the lake do not now pose an immediate health problem.

County Judge Woody Pond said this week he feels the efforts by the Plains association to suppress hail in Hale County have halted rain in Randall County and the resulting loss of water input into Buffalo Lake.

Pond said he's talked with area meteorologists about the cloud seeding activities of the Plains association and believes that efforts to suppress hail have also suppressed rain.

Walter Graham, South Randall County rancher, who travelled to Austin last week to protest the issuance of a weather modification permit to the Plains group, also believes Buffalo Lake's plight has been directly affected by the cloud seeding activities.

Graham and several other South Randall County farmers and ranchers have voiced strong opposition to the weather modification activities directed at hail suppression in Hale County. They charge that pilots for the County Opposes Weather Changes

Randall County commissioners, saying they are "strongly opposed" to cloud seeding over Randall County, passed a resolution Monday requesting a Hale County weather modification association to defer hail suppression here.

Copies of the resolution which passed unanimously, will be sent area state legislators, the Texas Water Quality Board and the Plains Weather Improvement Association in Hale County.

Walter Graham, South Randall County rancher and a member of the Canyon School Board, urged commissioners to pass the resolution, which blames the association's hail suppression cloud seeding program for affecting the rainfall in Randall County.

The resolution passed by commissioners notes the opposition of the court to hail suppression activities but also says the commissioners do not "oppose the investigation and experimentation to create rainfall in said county."

"Now therefore be it resolved by the Randall County Commissioners Court that said court request the Plains Weather Im-

Study Says Area Water Rapidly Receding In Ogallala Formation

Randall County irrigation farmers will have far less recoverable Ogallala formation water to draw on 50 years from now if present trends continue, a study by the Texas Water Development Board indicates.

The computer study of available ground-water resources in the High Plains area indicates the recoverable volume of water in storage under Randall County is estimated at 4.97 million acre feet in 1974.

The level is projected to drop to 3.38 million acre feet in 1990 and to 1.57 million acre feet by 2020.

Depletion projections from the report were based on water use patterns between 1960 and 1972. An acre-foot of water is equal to about 325,000 gallons.

The depletion pattern in Randall County, as projected by the study, is similar to the pattern in the other 45 High Plains counties which use Ogallala formation water for irrigation purposes.

The study indicates the total recoverable volume of water available in the formation in 1974 to be 340 million acre feet in the entire formation. That volume is expected to drop to 242 million acre feet in 1990 and to 126 million acre feet in 2020.

Pumpage, which totalled about 5.1 million acre feet in 1970, is expected to reach a peak of 6 million acre feet in 1990 and then is expected to drop to about 4.4 million acre feet by 2020.

More drastic drops in the water available for pumpage are predicted in High Plains counties which are now highly dependent on underground water for crops. Hartley County, which the study indicates has the most recoverable underground water in 1974 with 27 million acre feet, will see the volume drop to 10 million acre feet by 2020.

Randall County Agent John Brazzil said depletion of the water table which underlies the High Plains has been predicted for a number of years and will have an impact on the agriculture production of the area.

Randall County, he said, has never had the irrigation potential enjoyed by other counties primarily due to the lack of a sufficient underground water supply.

More than half the county, he said, has never had an underground water source.

With a total acreage of 600,000 acres, Randall County, he said, has about 80,000 irrigated acres in farmland.

As the water table is depleted, he said, it is obviously going to have an impact on the production which can be gleaned from irrigated farmlands.

Brazzil said production on irrigated land is considerably higher than production on dryland farms. Dryland wheat, he said, can be expected to produce about 15 bushels per acre while irrigated wheat can be expected to produce about 40 to 45 bushels per acre. Dryland grain sorghum can be expected to produce about 1500 pounds while irrigated grain sorghum can be expected to produce about 6000 pounds.

The High Plains which has more than 65 per cent of the irrigated acreage in Texas, is also the top agricultural production area in the state.

The water development board cites Texas Agriculture Department statistics which say 1972 production represented 54 per cent of the cotton, 66 per cent of the wheat, 57 per cent of the grain sorghum, 29 per cent of the soybeans, 68 per cent of the corn, 98 per cent of the sugar beets and 97 per cent of the castor beans grown in Texas.

A loss of irrigation water could impact on those production figures, Brazzil says, but it does not necessarily follow that

FROM THE CANYON RIM

It is incredible to me that Saudi Arabia now exerts such power in the world.

I was there in the middle 1940s and the family of nations considered it little more than a landing strip presided over by a group of brigands.

I was attached to the Royal Air Force there and His Majesty was tailing out Britain's "white man's burden" before laying it down forever.

Desert tribes fought each other but most of them paid homage to grizzled old Ibn Saud who threw out the Turks.

Arabia wasn't then and isn't now a civilized country as the West would interpret.

It was just beginning to dawn on the world that the impoverished country filled with thieves and beggars was actually floating on a sea of oil.

Huge refineries already were in operation at Abadan, Iran and in Bahrein Island across the Persian Gulf. The ruling sheik of Bahrein used the new wealth for the betterment of his people but if the rulers of Arabia have ever been concerned about the welfare of the average Arab it was not perceptible to the eye of the soldier there in 1945.

Arabia is a prime exhibit to prove the Machiavellian theory that there is no such thing as international law. To contend that there is only hypocracy.

World nations including the West have taken economic sanctions against both South Africa and Rhodesia because of alleged discrimination against blacks while we have winked at the sacrifice of human rights where it has been in our interest to do so.

Not even the Soviet Union disregards human rights as does the supplier of our gasoline tanks, Saudi Arabia.

A couple of years back a high government official personally murdered a poor tailor who sassed him on the telephone by accident.

Telephone communication is notoriously poor in Arabia and the hapless tailor's line became crossed with the official's line. The official identified himself and told the tailor to get off the line.

Thinking his leg was being pulled by a practical joker, the tailor replied, "And this is Ibn Saud."

The tailor was arrested and taken before the official who was still livid with anger. He ordered the offender shot and when the soldiers refused he seized a gun from one of them and personally put the poor tradesman to death.

Slavery was still being practiced when I was in Arabia. Young boys were emasculated into ennuchs and used as singing entertainers and as harem guards.

Yes, the big shots still had and I presume still maintain harems. Women had absoultely no rights and were bought and sold like chattel property.

The going price for outright ownership among the poor was as low as 15 rupees, about $4.50, owing to the extreme poverty of the bride's family.

I don't know what turn our foreign policy is going to take in the Middle East but I think I would rather rely on Israel than on the Arabs.

By shrewd diplomacy there we might just wind up like we have in the Far East with both sides hating us.

WT Instructors To Convention

Two West Texas State University professors will travel to San Antonio today to participate in the Southwest Social Science Association convention.

Dr. Walter L. Shelly, assistant professor of political science, is to deliver a paper at the convention on Saturday. The paper is on "Video Tape Use in the Teaching of State and Local Government."

Shelly said the paper is the result of an effort this year to use video tapes of elected and appointed state and local government officials in the classroom to supplement lecture and readings.

Shelly will present the paper to a panel on innovative teaching techniques in political science.

Dr. J. Pat Stephens, associate professor of political science, will participate on a panel concerning the environment.

Varied Community Services Provided By VFW Post Here

The annual community Easter Egg Hunt at Conner Park is but one of the many facets of community service performed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5681 and its VFW Auxiliary group.

As in the past few years, the VFW Post has made arrangements for thousands of Easter eggs which will be hidden in designated areas of Conner Park for a community hunt involving pre-schoolers up to 14 years of age. Prizes will be awarded to three in each division with an overall prize for the most eggs found. In addition to furnishing the eggs and prizes, the VFW Post also hides the eggs and supervises the hunt, according to Leroy Hutton, Post Commander.

In other realms of community service, the VFW Post annually contributes scholarship funding for the Reserve Officers Training Corps at West Texas State University and presents the Martin Allen Dickerson trophy to the outstanding first year member of a military science class at WT. The VFW Post also provides achievement awards to three outstanding cadets of the ROTC program annually.

The VFW, which is a national organization of former servicemen, annually sponsors the Gold Star Mother's Breakfast at the Post Home honoring mothers who lost sons during the war. The Post also places flags on the graves of all veterans at Dreamland Cemetery and removes the flags that evening on Memorial Day and participate in the annual Memorial Day Services there.

As a civic minded group, the VFW Post and Auxiliary contribute financially, along with other local civic entities, toward the support of the community's Canyon Days Celebration each summer. The VFW Post is responsible for the cutting and serving of the watermelon feast just prior to the fireworks show at the park each July Fourth.

Together the VFW Post and Auxiliary furnish gifts, financial aid and services for the Veteran's Administration Hospital and patients confined there during the Christmas holidays.

A large portion of the funding for both organizations is obtained through weekly bingo nights sponsored at the Post Home.

The VFW Auxiliary, which is headed by Mrs. Ray (Sue) Griffin, sponsors the traditional "poppy sale" each Memorial Day and does other community service projects such as a recently completed bicycle safety program for students at Rex Reeves Elementary School. Another bike safety program is planned by the group later this spring for the school children.

In addition, the Auxiliary is participating in the statewide VFW Auxiliary project which has been designated as financial aid for scholarships in the nursing program department at West Texas State University. All Auxiliaries in Texas are supporting the local nursing program this year.

The local VFW members also support the National VFW Orphan's Home with funds and meet monthly for business sessions under the guidance of their elected officers.

Sunrise Services In Palo Duro Park

Easter Sunrise Services are scheduled in the Pioneer Amphitheater at Palo Duro State Park on March 30 with the service to begin at 7:30 a.m. under the sponsorship of the Canyon Pastor's Association.

Local and area residents are invited and urged to participate in the annual service at sunrise on Easter Sunday. Those traveling to the Sunrise Service in Palo Duro State Park will not be charged for park admittance to the traditional services.

Rev. Jim Hancock, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canyon, will present the sunrise message using the topic "He Came Back" and music for the service is to be presented by the choir of the First Presbyterian Church in Canyon.

Other local pastors participating in the early morning service are Bill M. Kent of the First United Methodist Church, Baldwin Stribling of the First Presbyterian Church, Jim Haney of St. George Episcopal and Bill Webb of the Baptist Student Center.

No special collections will be taken during the service, however the Canyon Pastor's Association is sponsor of a special fund to care for transient relief of indigents and will be accepting funds for this project through Darold Baldwin, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canyon.

Bicentennial Activities Planned

Bi-Centennial activities in Canyon are underway with the local steering committee presently seeking matching funds to meet a $2,500 grant which is forthcoming from the National Bicentennial Committee.

The grant has been awarded to the local bicentennial committee to establish an outdoor visitor's center at the newly opened Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. Clubs and individuals desiring to help raise the matching funds may contact either Claire Kuehn, 655-7242 or Mary Alice Hines, 655-9978.

In addition the bicentennial committee here will receive a portion of the profits from the sale of existing commemorative coins which are available at the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. The committee will receive a portion of the sales when the purchaser so designates his preference when purchasing the coins. It is expected that the second coin of the series will be released soon.

Another project of the bicentennial group is the decoration of the soon to be completed Canyon Civic Complex with a historic wall hanging. The project has been undertaken by the Canyon Fine Arts Club with Claudia Neeley serving as chairman.

Drill Team Wins

Participating in the St. Patrick's Day celebration at Shamrock recently, the WTSU Angel Corps garnered first place drill team honors.

Competing against teams from the Tri-State area of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, the precision military drill team from the university accepted the plaque designating the Angel Corps as outstanding drill team.

Easter Egg Hunt Sunday At Park

Bright colored Easter eggs by the thousands have been purchased by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5681 in Canyon for a community hunt scheduled Sunday at Conner Park.

The hunt will begin at 2 p.m. with prize bunnies to be awarded in each of three divisions and an overall prize for the "most" eggs found in the hunt.

Designated hunt areas will be arranged to include age divisions up to five years old, ages 6-10, and ages 11-14. Three prizes will be awarded in each division for marked prize eggs.

The traditional community egg hunt is sponsored and supervised by the VFW Post here.

Budgets Best For Spending

Families will get the most satisfactory results from income if they set up a spending plan or "budget," says Becky Hall, County Extension Agent.

This plan should be made to fit your particular needs. Percentages or amounts set by others may not be good budget guides for you. Mrs. Hall suggests that money decisions be made as a family and plans kept simple and flexible.

A new publication called "Your Family Spending Plan" is available for free with instructions and forms to help you keep a record of where your money is going. Your family can plan its spending to get more of what you want and need.

Write the local county Extension agent (home economics), Mrs. Becky Hall, Randall County Courthouse, Room 101 at Canyon or call her at 655-3341.

Interdepartmental Seminar Set

"The Value of Literary Criticism to the Society" will be the topic of the sixth West Texas State University interdepartmental seminar at 6:30 p.m. April 3.

Presenting the subject will be Mrs. Hope McKenzie, WTSU instructor of English. Dr. Charmazel Dudt will be the discussant, with Dr. Zell SoRelle as the moderator.

"Upon examining the role of the modern literary critic, we find that the subject of his analysis — 'an imitation of human experience' — must define the category of that 'imitation,' locate it in time, and establish the criteria upon which his judgment is based," Mrs. McKenzie says.

"Although in the past one man could speak for his age on almost any subject, the modern critic must be content to view literature — and through it, 'human experience' — from a limited and partial frame of reference," she says. "But his hope must be that all the fragmentary views will somehow be syntheisized, thus forming the basis of a final almagamization of science (a system of objective criteria) and art (the work of imagination)."

The seminar will be held at the United Campus Ministry, located on Fourth Street at the Episcopalian Center in Canyon. A buffet dinner will be served.

The final interdepartmental seminar on May 1 will be a presentation by Graduate Dean David Wheeler on "Research and the University." Guests with academic backgrounds and interests are invited to attend.

Experience: A Plus For WTSU Buffaloes

A nucleus of experienced lettermen and starters will lead the 1975 Buffalo squad both in spring drills which begin April 3 and in the season which opens Sept. 6.

An analysis by position for the Buffs, and comments by Coach Gene Mayfield:

OFFENSIVE BACKFIELD

Three of the four starters from 1974 are back, and it would have been a clean sweep had fullback Johnny Darden not dropped out of school. Quarterback Tully Blanchard runs well (261 yards rushing) and throws well (eight touchdown passes).

Halfbacks Eddie Richardson (4.7 yards per carry) and Richard Riggins (4.3 avg.) look to carry much of the workload. At fullback, three-year letterman Clois Burgess and Curtis Clinton are capable of picking up where Darden left off.

Mayfield says: "Blanchard is still the man at quarterback. We've talked about all the freshmen coming in, but they will still have to beat out Eddie Richardson. He's just a steady ballplayer. Freddie Turner had a fine freshman year, and we've moved John Paul Lee over from defense. He's got good size and good speed. At fullback, we feel both Clois and Curtis can get the job done. As long as we keep those two healthy this spring, we'll be all right there."

RECEIVERS

Two of the best played for WT at split end and tight end last year, but Mayfield hopes he has replacements for Tracy Dickson and Merced Solis this year.

Junior Keith Oxley will get first shot at Solis' tight end position as sophomore Mike LaBrie will probably miss most of spring drills after undergoing knee surgery. Junior Mickey Matthews is the heir apparent at split end.

Mayfield says: "Oxley is the man at tight end, but we'll have to move somebody over there with LaBrie out, for practice purposes. Matthews played behind Dickson last year, and he looks to be getting most of his speed back. We also moved Greg Forbes over to split end late last fall and he and Matthews will battle for that position."

OFFENSIVE LINE

Jeff Lloyd, who earned all-MVC honors as a junior at one tackle will anchor an experienced offensive line. The 6-6, 238-pounder appears set at one tackle, and John Jacobi and Richard Perez will fight over the other side.

At guard, Greg Whetstone, Bob Brown and Jackie White all earned starting assignments at one time or another last year, and sophomore-to-be Willie Burleson could challenge for a first team berth. Center is the main question mark without all-MVC Alton Cranford. Senior Tibby Rogers and redshirt Gary Trosper will start the spring at the position, but Mayfield indicated he may try one of the guards at the spot.

Mayfield says: "We feel like we have some pretty good interior linemen with some experience there. Jeff is our only returning all-conference player, but I think our three guards did a real good job, but we may have to move one of them to center."

DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD

Starters Mishael Kelson at strong safety and Mike Lozano at free safety return, but a real problem at both cornerbacks stands between this backfield and excellence. Kelson received all-MVC honorable mention last year as a junior, and Lozano was well on his way to an excellent season when he was felled by a hamstring injury in the second game of the year.

Junior College transfer Tommy Mills and Mike Williams are the two cornerbacks now, but that position could see plenty of experimentation.

Mayfield says: "We've got good experience at safety with Kelson, Lozano, Bryan Carr and Mike Rychlik, but what I'm really concerned about is our cornerbacks. Roger Boykin is completely inexperienced and Tommy Mills is a junior college transfer, so we don't know much about him. On the other side Mike Williams seems to have the ability, size and speed, but he's been hurt or something has been wrong with him. He needs to have a good spring."

LINEBACKERS

Two of the three positions are open with the graduation of Steve Rogers and Bruce Davis. Jeff Nunn, Mike Podzemny and Terry Duffy are the top candidates to fill Rogers' strong side slot, and Winston Short and Randy Cook should battle for Davis' old position in the middle. Larry Spears, who had all-MVC mention as a freshman at weakside linebacker, could be a top honors candidate there this year.

Mayfield says: "I think because he was a freshman, Larry Spears perhaps didn't get the recognition he might have got otherwise. If he continues to play along the lines he did this past year, I think he should deserve some all-conference recognition."

DEFENSIVE LINE

Tackle Floyd Jones stands as a bonafide All-America candidate from his left tackle position, a strong anchor to what may be the best Buffalo defensive line in many years. Big Floyd was all-MVC last year, an honor that could easily be won by fellow tackle Mike Lusane and end John Ayers this year. Darrell Blades, an outstanding competitor as a member of the specialty teams last year, is the new man at right end.

Mayfield says: "Jones was no fluke. I think he deserved his honors last year, and I'd be surprised and disappointed if he was not in the battle for honors again this year."

KICKING GAME

Bruce Wyre stands as a top all-MVC candidate after two excellent seasons. He tied his own school record with three field goals against Utah State, and he booted a 58-yard field goal as a sophomore against Louisville, the fourth longest in NCAA history. Eddie Richardson and John Paul Lee handled the punting chores a year ago with Lee averaging 39.5 yards per kick.

Mayfield says: "Our strength in the punting game should be reasonably good. John Paul came on well late in the season."

finances and bills which would put the bookkeeping function in the county treasurer's office and the auditing function in the auditor's office.

In the past, he explained, Mrs. Betty Hodges, the county auditor, was required to keep books and handle bill payments and was, therefore, unable to perform auditing duties.

He suggested a plan to divide the labor so Mrs. Hodges would be free to provide audits and serve as a check on county finances.

The commissioners adopted the plan for implementation.

The exact duties and functions of the county treasurer and county auditor are not spelled out in Texas law, but county commissioners are given control over the activities of the treasurer.

Article 1709, Vernon's Annotated Texas Civil Statutes, outlines the following duties for the county treasurer:

"The county treasurer, as chief custodian of county finance, shall receive all moneys belonging to the county from whatever source they may be derived; keep and account for the same in a designated depositry or depositories; and pay and apply or disburse the same, in such manner as the Commissioners Court may require or direct, not inconsistent with constituted law . . . Upon failure to perform such duties the treasurer shall be guilty of dereliction of duty and subject to prosecution."

Other sections of state law indicate the treasurer is responsible for the receipt of county funds, the accounting for of county funds and the disbursement of county funds.

Texas statutes indicate the auditor is to perform auditing duties, examining county financial records with or without prior notice.

Article 1656 allows the county auditor to prescribe and prepare the forms to be used for the collection of county revenues. The auditor is also charged with the duty to prescribe "the mode and manner of keeping and stating their accounts.

"He shall have power to adopt and enforce such regulations not inconsistent with the constitution and laws, as he may deem essential to the speedy and proper collection, checking and accounting of the revenues and other funds and fees belonging to the county," says the article.

farmers' profits will decline as the water table declines.

He said irrigation requires more monetary outlay than does dryland farming.

The board's report says several factors could effect the depletion of water from the Ogallala over the next several years. The factors include the amounts and distribution of future precipitation; federal crop controls; price and demand for food and fiber grown in the area; cost of energy to produce water; availability and cost of farm labor; and soil and water conservation measures.

Brazzil said technology with commensurate gains in water conservation techniques or water producing techniques will not be stable during the next 50 years and might have an impact on the downward trend in water availability.

He said he anticipates further measures will be instituted to conserve water and measures to increase the efficient use of the water available.

The petition in question was presented the county school trustees more than a year ago by five residents of the 176-acre tract of land which lies west of the Canyon Expressway just south of the Canyon-Amarillo school district boundary line.

The petitioners contend they want their children to attend Amarillo schools rather than ride buses to Canyon schools.

make headway with axes, used a fire truck to ram in a garage door.

One fire unit remained at the scene until about noon Wednesday. The fire was brought under control about 8:30 a.m. Jennings said, but the plastic contents of the building continued to smolder throughout the morning.

The building and firm is owned by A.L. "Bud" Fassauer of Canyon.

Fassauer began Fassauer Industries in Canyon in the spring of 1972 with patents on his own inventions for a new type metering device which he said would allow accurate and reliable measurements.

He opened the plant to make three basic items — a small animal feeder of plastic fabrication, a large animal of metal and his measuring device.

An inveterate inventor, Fassauer has patented other items, also.

The Canyon plant, one of only three or four industries in the city, employed about five persons.

Cloud . . .

Plains Association are using silver iodide nuclei to seed clouds in an effort to stop hail, but the process is also stopping rainfall over Randall County.

Paul Ferguson, manager of the Buffalo Lake area, who has overseen various programs at the lake to try to revitalize the reservoir, said rain falling on the watershed is the primary source of water for the lake.

He said rainfall statistics from the lake and from other locations on the watershed indicate rainfall patterns in the past few years have shifted and the lake is receiving less and less rainfall run-off.

But, he said he could not say definitely whether weather modification activities in the Hale County area was the cause of the decline in rainfall or run-off.

"I'd just as soon people didn't mess with mother nature," he said.

Polluted by cattle feedyard run-off from the Hereford area in the late 1960s, Buffalo Lake was allowed to dry up in 1971 and since that time various improvements have been made at the lake in an effort to hold less water for fishing and for wildlife, particularly ducks and geese.

Ferguson said for several years the lake rain gauge has recorded only about five inches of rainfall for an entire year.

Weather patterns have shown a definite change in recent years," he said. "Storms have swung down and followed the Canadian or swung south and gone toward the Plainview area."

provement Association to alter weather modification hail suppression over any part of Randall County, Texas," the resolution says.

Graham explained to commissioners that he and six other farmers and ranchers in the southern portion of the county had travelled to Austin last week to object to the issuance by the water quality board of a permit for weather modification activities to the Plains association.

Graham said every farmer he's talked to in the county is opposed to further weather modification activities, which he says has halted rainfall as the association has attempted to stop hail in Hale County.

Farmers told The News last week planes from the association were seeding clouds outside of Hale County with the idea of stopping hail clouds from forming and in the process were also ruining the possibility of the formation of rain clouds also.

Commissioners also backed a resolution presented by David West of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce asking the federal Department of Transportation to reconsider its recent negative recommendation on funding for designation of U.S. 60 from Amarillo through Canyon to Las Cruces, N.M., as a part of the federal interstate highway system.

The U.S. 60 route was one of 10 studied by the states for proposal for funding to Congress when the session began in January. But, the federal transportation agency recommended to Congress that none of the routes be funded.

The resolution urges the department to reconsider its recommendation particularly with respect to the U.S. 60 route and also requests that the Public Works Committees of the Senate and the House consider "further the national benefits to be derived from development of this route to Interstate standards, and to designate the route this year for such development."

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce has gone on record in support of a similar resolution signed last week by President Weldon Trice.

Commissioners passed two other resolutions during their Monday session — one dealing with legislation to centralize control of the state's adult probation offices, and the other dealing with a hike in fees for the county tax collector.

The commissioners went on record opposing creation of a contemplated centralized system for adult probation office control in the state. The chief of the adult probation department which serves Potter and Randall counties had urged adoption of a resolution in favor of such a system when he met with the commissioners last week.

The resolution which gained approval of the commissioners for an increase in the fee charged for motor vehicle registration by the county tax collector was also passed.

In other business, commissioners reviewed their financial situation. County Judge Woody Pond noted the county currently has bank deposits totalling $1,025,800 in separate accounts and certificates of deposit. Certificates of deposit total $814,000 while separate operating accounts include the remainder of the funds.

it now," he said.

City officials began working on a grant request through the HUD community development program last November. They anticipated at that time the city could be allocated as much as $760,000 over the next six years with $31,000 to be allocated the first year of the program.

However, HUD officials were slow to come up with guidelines for the program and the initial Canyon proposal was altered several times before receiving approval of the Canyon City Commission.

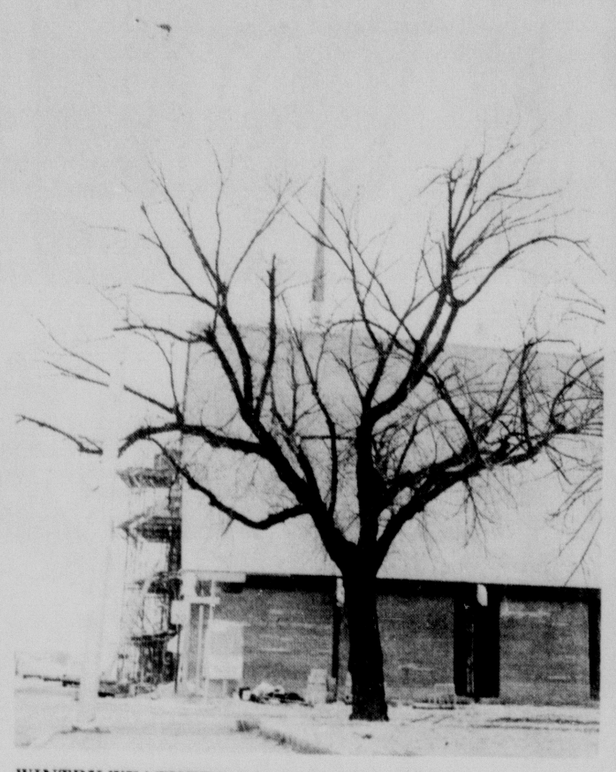
That first proposal called for funds from HUD to be used here for hiring of a community development planner and for the establishment of a senior citizens center.

HUD officials informally nixed both projects, however, and Canyon presented a pre-application calling for the street paving program.

Loudder said Tuesday three cities in the 25-county Panhandle area will possibly receive funding for programs through the HUD. Amarillo is certain to receive several million dollars and funds have initially been okayed for Wheeler, Shamrock and Perryton.

Loudder said three or four more cities in the Panhandle have a moderate chance of receiving funds under the program.

Canyon is the only city in the Panhandle which is in the category which was left without funding by HUD.



WINTRY WEATHERS signs are all around with barren trees, as this one shown near the construction site of the First United Methodist Church of Canyon where workmen have been busy despite weather conditions. The steeple for the new sanctuary was lifted into place recently.

Garden Issue Coming

The Canyon Sunday News will include a spring gardening section to introduce readers to good gardening techniques, proper planting schedules and gardening products.

Advertising deadline for the special issue will be at noon Friday.

Articles prepared by County Agent John Brazzil as well as articles and pictures from local sources will be included in the tabloid section. Watch for it in Sunday's Canyon News.

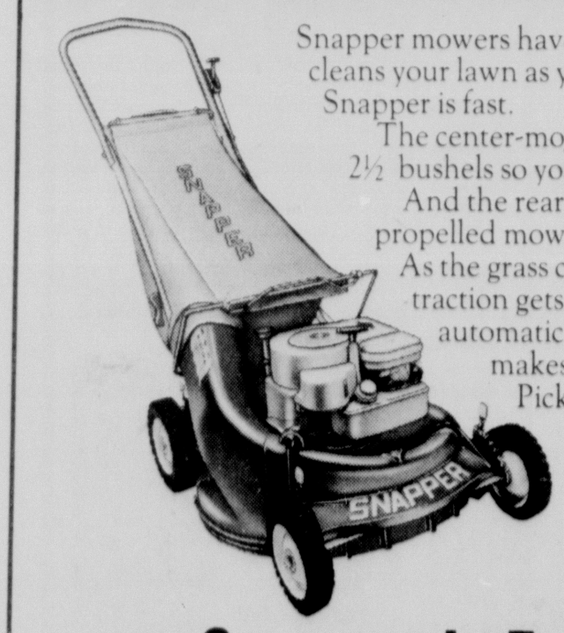
Great Pick-Up.



Snapper mowers have vacuum action that cleans your lawn as you mow. Another reason Snapper is fast.

The center-mounted grass catcher holds 2½ bushels so you empty less often.

And the rear-wheel drive on all self-propelled mowers gives greater traction. As the grass catcher fills, rear-wheel traction gets even better. Snapper's automatic free-wheeling feature makes for safer control.

Spring's In And Kids Are Out

By DORIS McKEE

FRIDAY, MARCH 21st brought us the first day of spring. Also it was the day the kids got out for spring vacation.

LAST MONDAY, JOHNNIE Robertson spent the day shopping in Amarillo with her mother, Doris Oswalt, and her sister, Dale Nolen, both of Borger. Also shopping were Dale's daughters, Natasha and Shellie.

The item of most interest, was a dress for Shellie to wear in the Little Miss Borger Contest where she is one of the 56 contestants. Good luck Shellie.

FRIDAY NIGHT WAS the Campfire Girls father and daughter banquet at Gene Howe. The girls fixed box lunches for their fathers and themselves.

A couple of those who attended from Siesta and had a real good time were, Albert Rinne and daughter, Kathie, along with Larry Weeter and his daughter, Marcie.

WE WERE VERY saddened by the death of Richard James Hinsley, of 154 Siesta Lane last Tuesday.

He is survived by his widow, Marie, two stepsons, Charles and David Laney of the home; two sons, Larry Dale of 2727 Virginia Circle and Michael James of 5002 S. Crockett; a daughter, Mrs. Linda Gail Tabb of Florida and another stepson, Joey Laney of 3608 S. Tyler.

The funeral was at 1:00 p.m. Friday at Boxwell Brothers. Burial was in Memory Gardens.

SEEMS FAYE AND Felton Conner and daughters Rhnee, Diana and Susie made a trip to Mason, Texas this weekend to see Faye's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Keese.

Faye said it was a nice family get together. Her sister, Mrs. Kurt Haripar of El Paso was there. It was the first time in three years they had been together. The Conners also visited Felton's brothers and sisters in Junction, Texas.

KATHY BURGAN IS lucky enough to have her sister, Debbie Grigsby of Garland, Texas visiting this week.

SEEMS WHEN SATURDAY afternoon rolled around Jon, Diana, Marty and Christy Hoffman loaded up and headed toward Nebraksa, to a small place called Gothenburg.

They visited Floyd, Brenda, Rusty and Shellie Holt. There was one big problem with their trip. It just didn't last long enough, but it was a very enjoyable visit.

LAST WEDNESDAY WAS Jean Mayfield's birthday. The girls gave her a surprise party with a beautiful cake. She said it had every candle on it. She also received a very lovely mother's ring.

WOULD ALSO LIKE to say Happy Birthday to Albert Rinne, who today adds another year. Also a belated birthday wish goes out to Sharon Flemins, whose big day was last Friday.

Seems the Siesta Bowling team, which consists of Jonnie Robertson, JoAnn Pingle and Norma Weeter, is now in 3rd place. They bowl every Tuesday morning at Western Bowl.

PEARL WEST SAID their son, Jerry came out Saturday and again on Sunday this week. She still doesn't know how she rated for two visits.

ALBERT, KATIE, DAVIA and Kathie Rinne went to Slaton, Texas over the weekend.

Katie said they really had a busy time. They attended a birthday party, a baby shower, an Easteregg hunt and went out on the town Saturday night.

On Sunday they had lunch with Kathie's folks, before returning home.

CATHY RAMIREZ WAS in High Plains Baptist Hospital for a few days last week. She is home now and doing fine from what I hear.

* * *

PHIL MAYFIELD HAS just recently changed jobs. He is now employed by Cooper and Woodruff and likes it real well.

MY MOTHER, ETHEL Weaver of Lubbock, came up on Friday and spent several days with us. On Saturday I took her to visit Ruby Patterson and Ethel Dollar in Amarillo.

Then Monday night, after eating out, we drove out to Pleasant Valley to visit Roy, Martha and Carl Crumley for a while. Roy is her brother.

WE HOPE YOU people will attend the Cub Scout Pack meeting on Thursday night, March 27th, at 7:30 p.m. in the recreation building.

It will be in the form of a circus and there will be a small charge to go through the Big Top.

THE BOY SCOUTS went on an all night camp out to Palo Duro Canyon, Friday night, March 21st.

Scouts attending were Dusty West, Marty Hoffman, Tod McKee, Shannon Jones, Scott Flemins, Paul Qualls, Tony Smith, Forrest Prichett, Ronnie Humble, Ronnie McCarter, Tracy Walls, Patrick Shaffer and a couple of Webeloes, Randy Jones and Jeryl Flemins.

Kenneth Shaffer, James Jones and Dan Prichett spent the night with the boys.

Dale West and Jon Hoffman also helped take the boys down, get the tents and camps set up and ate supper with the boys before returning home. All in all it was a good camp out.

BY THE WAY, we want to remind everyone about Raylene Qualls, liquid embroidery party, coming up Tuesday morning, April 1st, at 9:30 a.m. at 226 La Fiesta. Come on down.

WOULD LIKE TO extend a hearty thank you, to the county for fixing Plaza Drive. It sure is a lot better to drive on now. Thanks.

* * *

GUESS IT'S TIME to sign off for this week. Will be back next time, so keep on reading.

Hope everyone has a real nice Easter weekend. Travel safely and enjoy yourselves.

Thought for this week, "It doesn't take guts to be a friend, but it does take guts to be somebody's enemy."

See Ya.

Sealed Bid Auction Underway For Artist's Original Work

D. Crow's original painting entitled "Nature's Flower Garden" is on display this week at the First National Bank of Canyon and is offered in a sealed bid auction being sponsored by the Heritage Woman's Club of Canyon.

The painting will be presented to its new owner on April 12 at a talent show being sponsored by the women's federated club at Canyon High School auditorium. Funds raised from the talent show and the sealed bid auction will be presented to Palo Duro Hospital for purchase of a portable heart defibrillator.

Minimum bids of $150 are being accepted this week at the First National Bank by John Childs. The painting will be on display at the First National Bank until Friday and will then be displayed at West Texas State Bank of Canyon during March 31 - April 11 where Cordell Huddleston will be accepting sealed bids for the painting. Mail in bidding may be sent to Jerry Williams c/o Williams Etc., 1519 4th Avenue, Canyon. Bid deadline is April 11.

All sealed bids will be opened Saturday morning, April 12, by a committee from the Heritage Woman's Club of Canyon and the purchaser of the painting will be announced during the talent show that evening.

Local Gardener Gives Advice

Spring is here and for many people the beginning of spring means the time is at hand to begin preparation for a home garden.

Last year, reports showed a record number of people throughout the country planted gardens in an attempt to curb the high price of food. This year looks to be even bigger.

To many in the area, this year's garden will possibly be their first attempt at growing fruits and vegetables.

In an attempt to help the novice gardener get off on the right foot, The News contacted Leroy Miller, a local nurseryman and gardener, and asked his views on the home garden.

To start with, Miller said, "ground preparation is most important." The soil must be worked by spading or roto-tilling. Fertilizer is a must according to Miller.

"I think barnyard fertilizer is the best. It's organic and back to nature," Miller said. "The manure needs to be aged and not too fresh. Fresh manure creates heat and will destroy germination," he said.

Chemical fertilizers will also give the garden the needed nutrients but Miller stresses the importance of using it correctly.

"In this area, around the first of June is about the right time to plant most of your garden. It's a good idea to start things like tomatoes and peppers inside in flats during early spring," Miller said. This enables the plants to get off to a strong start once the soil is warm enough to replant outdoors.

Miller also says that it is a good idea to start watermelons and cantaloupes inside in order to have an early crop.

For tomato lovers, Miller suggests the Red Cloud variety. "Through experience, I have found the variety to be very productive, in this area," he said. On tomato growing, Miller also said the hybrid tomatoes have trouble making because most of them aren't bred for our area and climate.

According to Miller, some of the things that are easily grown are beans, peas, beets, radishes, carrots, turnips, and okra. Squash can also thrive if the squash bugs are controlled.

The time is now right for planting onion sets or buttons. They will survive late freezes.

"Some people laugh at me but I watch the calendar and the moon signs," says Miller. While today's students of agriculture may scoff at the relevance of the moon, Miller's past experiences have made him at least "aware of the moon signs."

Miller cited one case in point when he planted part of a cotton crop in favor of the moon sign and the rest was planted when the signs said not to plant. As a result, the cotton planted against the signs yielded only a fourth as much as that planted in the moon's favor. Miller emphasizes that the theory is strictly personal acceptance.

With or without the signs, Miller emphasizes the need for the gardener to tend the garden regularly. Once the garden is up, it needs continuous cultivation and weeding.

Miller also stresses watering. To the user of city water, he advises ground watering rather than sprinkling. With the salts and the chemicals in the city water, it is best to water on the ground and not directly on the plants, according to Miller.

Sunday, The News will contain a supplement dealing with all aspects of home gardening.

TSTI Director's Post Goes To Karolyn Keith

Karolyn Keith, Canyon Creek Apartments, has been named director of guidance and counseling at Texas State Technical Institute, Amarillo.

Miss Keith will assume her new duties April 1. She has been associate director of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., here since September. Executive vice president of OPI, Milton Morris, says, "We are glad to see Miss Keith get this advancement, because the Opportunity Plan has always worked closely with TSTI. We have financed a number of students through courses there."

Miss Keith holds a B.S. degree in business education from West Texas State University, and a master's degree in counseling and guidance from St. Mary's University, San Antonio. She has been on a research grant as graduate assistant to the director of counseling and guidance at St. Mary's University.

Before coming to Canyon, Miss Keith was administrative assistant to the coordinator of consumer services, City of San Antonio. She has had wide experience in public relations; consumer marketing, research and teaching; personnel records; and was at one time editor of the Pantex Ordance Plant newspaper, the Pantexan.

A charter member of Chi Omega chapter at WTSU, she holds membership in Sweet Adelines (for which she was publicity director for a sell-out show), Business and Professional Women, and National Secretaries Association. She says she enjoys "facilitating and co-facilitating group process."

Miss Keith will be associated with J.W. Sollis, manager of student services at TSTI and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Keith, 2420 10th Ave.

Tax Offices To Close

The Randall County tax offices in Amarillo and Canyon will be closed Saturday, March 29 for the Easter Holiday week end.

The offices will be open for business at the regular office hours from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday, March 31.

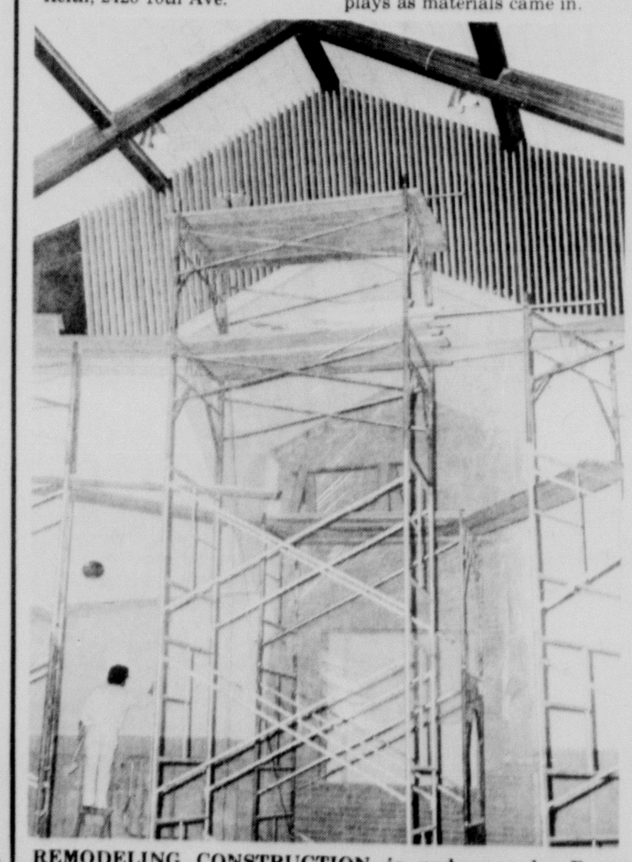
Bicentennial Displayed

"The local, the regional, contains the universal," a quote from West Texas State University History Professor Fred Rathjen's book "The Texas Panhandle Frontier," is the theme of the American Bicentennial display currently on exhibit on the WTSU Cornette Library first floor.

Prepared by library staff members Mrs. Sandy Sparling and Mrs. Faye Hendrickson, the cases display the national American Bicentennial flag, notices from local Bicentennial committees, reviews and book-jackets of Rathjen's two books and a color print commemorating the Continental Navy, 1776-77.

Mrs. Delpha Gard, associate librarian, said the display would remain up for two or three more weeks.

She also stated that they hoped to continue to feature the American Bicentennial in displays as materials came in.



REMODELING CONSTRUCTION is underway by Root Construction Company and Baca & Duke Painting Company of Canyon at the new homesite for the First Christian Church of Canyon. T.B. Baca (pictured) is among the local workmen involved in the major project prior to the local congregation's move which has been set for early April.

First came the robins and then the flowers, planted as bulbs last fall. The first day of spring was late, according to the flower schedule. Spring has already sprung.

Woman's Home Built In 1904

Grace Weller at the age of 79 still occupies a home in Canyon which was built for the Weller family when they first moved here in 1904.

Miss Weller is a descendant of the Jacob Daniel Weller family which moved to Amarillo in 1897 from Missouri. She recalls moving to Wildorado after about two years. At Wildorado the family operated two sections of ranch land and ran Whiteface cattle prior to moving to Randall County and settling here in 1904.

"We came here so the kids could get some schooling," stated Miss Weller recalling that she attended public schools here, but did not finish college.

"We were here before the streets were paved" she stated. "We ordered our needs out of Amarillo and there were two grocery stores on the courthouse square at that time.

"The courthouse centered the square but it was a wooden structure and they moved it out to build the brick courthouse which has been added onto several times since," she related.

Miss Weller recalls joining the Methodist Church in 1908 and during her 66 years of church membership has taught and worked with the children's departments at different times.

The only surviving member of her immediate family, Miss Weller still occupies the home built by her father at 104 N. 10th Street in the early 1900's. With her parents, two brothers and a sister (all deceased), Miss Weller has three nieces including Mrs. Edward (Wilma) Harrison of Canyon and Ardath Ann Read and Betty June Weller, who both reside in Colorado.

"I've worked at several different things during my lifetime," stated the active woman. "For awhile I did sales work all over the area, and for a few years operated a community laundry.

Jewelry Workshop Held For Porcelain Arts Club

Palo Duro Porcelain Art Club of Canyon met Friday, March 21, in the home of Mrs. R. S. Francy at Happy with Mrs. Ernest White as co-hostess for a workshop on the subject of painting jewelry and first firing given by Mrs. Melvin May of Dumas.

Gene Howe News

Gene Howe News Returns

By KAROLYN FARMER

DUE TO POPULAR demand, Gene Howe News is back . . . and until popular demand (or my neglected family) demands otherwise, yours truly will be reporting all the newsy stuff I can dig up.

There's no way I'm going to be able to follow in Troyce Mulherin's footsteps — she runs too fast. So I guess I'll just have to make my own tracks.

Anyway, according to Troyce, it's not how you write the column that's important, it's how you spell the names.

HOTTEST ITEM RIGHT now at Gene Howe is the Tenth Anniversary Celebration scheduled for April 7. Chairman Troyce Mulherin and her planning committee have just about got everything finalized.

Serving on the committee are Gwen Sellers, Sarah Edwards, Gay Cochran, Ernestine Harp and Luther Lawless.

Gene Howe parents check your child's pockets after he gets home from school on April 1st for your official invitation. The public is invited to attend also.

IF YOU NOTICED a few new faces in the classrooms this past week, they were probably those of the student teachers from W. T. Their practice teaching began at Gene Howe on Monday, March 17 and they'll be with us until May.

ON WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, Dr. Splawn from W. T. will hold an in-service conference with our teachers who have student teachers working with them.

Dr. Splawn is not only a dedicated teacher himself, but he's also a very brave man. Last week he invited our PTA board to speak to one of his education classes on the subject "What Do Parents Expect and Want From Teachers."

Ernestine Harp and I, representing Gene Howe PTA, gave our opinions and ideas. Of course, when it comes to teachers we're both a little biased since we think that Gene Howe has some of the best teachers anywhere.

THE FIFTH GRADE boys' basketball team finished their season a few weeks ago. They played well, tried hard and lost their last game by only one point. Coach Royal Yarbrough did a super job with the boys; and according to them he's a "real neat guy."

Anybody who would spend that much time and effort coaching and didn't even have a son on the team has got to be "real neat."

The boys playing on the team were Darryl Bruffett, Charlie Cox, Richard Ellsaesser, Carl Henry, Jeff Knight, Dave Lane, Jeff Pike, Patrick Shaffer and Steve Wilson.

THIS PAST WEEK, March 16 through 22, was the 65th birthday of Camp Fire Girls. Gene Howe has five Camp Fire groups with about fifty girls participating in the program.

On Tuesday Jackie Jobe's group visited the Amarillo City Commission's meeting where they sang for the Commissioners and presented them with a birthday cake. In return they received a proclamation from the City honoring their birthday.

Jackie's girls also gave a cake to the teachers at Gene Howe and Mr. Lawless received a cake from Tootie Bybee's group.

The Camp Fire Girls had charge of raising the flag at school each morning as well as decorating the library bulletin board and the school display case.

The grand finale of their busy week was the Dad-Daughter Dinner in the school cafeteria on Friday night, attended by girls and their dads from Gene Howe, Rex Reeves and South Georgia schools.

Camp Fire leaders at Gene Howe are Jackie Jobe, Tootie Bybee, Gloria Rawls, Ina Aduddell and Sharon Jones.

IN CASE YOU didn't see the sign Phyllis Hicks secretly put on the back of husband Johnny's pickup, Johnny turned 39 March 7. A surprise party that evening topped off "young" Johnny's big day.

THE FOURTH GRADE Girl Scout troop led by Margaret Davis has finished their cookie sales for this year. Tammie Wilcox leads in sales with 246 boxes.

Girls who sold 100 boxes or more are Michelle Arnett, Paula Bennett, Denise Cox, Nancy Inman, Gemma Johnson and Jeanette Spencer. Mary Wilcox is assistant troop leader and Sherry Manning and Clair Davis are senior scouts for the troop.

THE FOURTH GRADE boys' Kids, Inc. track team had their first meet Saturday. Bill Hamilton is the coach and has 12 boys on the team.

However, they need several more boys to be eligible to participate in all the meet events. Both third and fourth grade boys may be on the team. Call Mr. Hamilton at 352-7402 for information, if your son would like to participate.

TERESA DAVIS IS coaching the fourth grade girls' track team and really needs more girls on the team. If your daughter is in the third or fourth grade at Gene Howe and just likes to run, call Teresa at 355-7702.

Track season is just beginning and if you would be interested in coaching a team in another grade or helping in the fourth grade, call Leonard Schmidt, Kids, Inc. Round-Up man for Gene Howe.

Our Gene Howe teams in all sports consistently have the reputation of playing hard and particularly being good sports. But each sport needs the leadership and support of the parents and active participation by the kids to succeed at our school.

MAKE IT A special point to cast your vote this next month. Amarillo city elections will be held April 1 and Canyon School Board elections will be April 5.

* * *

NEWLY ENROLLED AT Gene Howe is Becky Golden, who is in Mrs. Parson's sixth grade room. Becky is the daughter of Jimmy and Winnifred Golden and the granddaughter of Helen Fain, our cafeteria manager. The Goldens live on Monterey Circle.

VERY IMPORTANT, PLEASE call me at 355-8549 when you have any news about anything.

ALSO IMPORTANT: TAKE your children to church this Sunday and don't forget to tell them the real meaning of Easter.

New Officers For Happy Jaycees

By MARY NEAL HENRY

HAPPY COWBELLES WHO attended the Mid-Year Meeting in Austin last week-end were LaNelle Todd, Othella McGehee, Ruth Sims, Judy Thompson, Myra Nell Culp, Mary Jane Miller, Vera and Bill Eubanks and myself.

They attended the Board of Directors meeting on Sunday afternoon and a general business and information meeting on Monday. I also attended an executive meeting on Saturday evening. In addition to the Board meeting on Sunday, we attended a reception given by Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers honoring for Texas legislators on Sunday evening.

Business of the convention included the division of Texas into regions for the purpose of workshops and regional meetings: the decision to meet with Texas Cattle Feeders this fall in Fort Worth for the State Convention: establishing of a state Beef Promotion contest; the establishment of a Memorial Fund; and slight changes in some of the executive workings of Texas CowBelles.

Texas Cowbelles sold over $41,700 worth of Beef Certificates for Christmas. This figure has passed the $45,000 mark since that time. Letters explaining these were sent to the leading retail merchants of the United States.

One Beef Gift Certificate was even sent to Peru. It was received there and has cleared the participating bank account from which it was sold. This proved its acceptance. So far, we have seventy one participating banks in Texas. (Eat More Beef.)

We urge that people give Beef Gift Certificates for Christmas, Bridal showers, wedding gifts, anniversaries, Mothers' and Fathers' Days, birthdays and especially to senior (or junior) citizens who might be on a limited budget. And aren't we all!

In addition to the convention, we toured the LBJ Library and the capitol.

Mixer Life Longer With Proper Care

by BECKY HALL
County Extension Agent

Regular care of a mixer can give it a longer service life.

Regular cleaning can prevent damage to the motor and the possibility of electrical shock.

She explained that the head can be wiped with a soft, soapy cloth, then rinsed and dried. But consumers should avoid abrasive cleansers which can mar the finish. The head should never be immersed in water.

The beaters and bowl should be washed after each use, either by hand or in a dishwasher. Before using the mixer again, be sure that all parts are completely dry.

It's a good idea to wipe the cord occasionally with a damp cloth with the mixer is unplugged.

Concerning oiling the mixer, instructions from the manufacturer of each individual appliance should be consulted in each case. Some of the newer models cannot be lubricated at home.

Expenditure Questions For Household

Questions on expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties will be asked of a sample of households in this area by Bureau of the Census interviewers during the period April 1-11.

The home improvement survey is taken four times yearly to provide valuable information to many government and private groups on this segment of the American economy. The sample of households here is among the approximately 6,000 throughout the United States that will be included.

Total expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties amounted to $21.7 billion (seasonally adjusted annual rate) in the third quarter of 1974, up from $19.0 billion in the second quarter. More than half of $14.1 billion spent in the third quarter was for construction improvements such as additions, alterations, and major replacements. The remainder went for maintenance and repairs.

Information reported to the Census Bureau is held in strict confidence by law. The reports published are in terms of totals only. No information that would identify any individual or household is released.

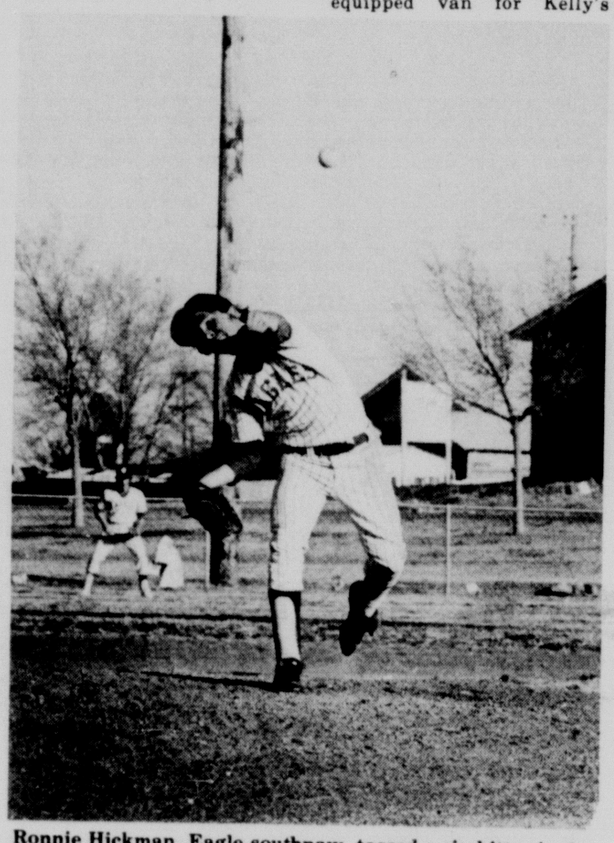
Named To Small Business Administration

West Texas State University Associate Professor of Business Hollice Snyder has been appointed to the Lubbock District Advisory Council for the U. S. Government Small Business Administration.

According to information received by Dr. Snyder, the 65 District Advisory Councils throughout the United States make a total of 2,000 men and women who represent small businesses, lending institutions, newspapers, broadcast media, labor, professions, education and virtually every segment of commerce.

Council members serve the agency by reporting on the small business climate, its needs and the effects of SBA programs in their communities, as well as nationally. They also make suggestions and recommendations which enable the SBA to serve small businesses better. They act as a channel of information to local business, commercial and investment interests regarding SBA programs and how these groups may use these or be of help by participating.

Dr. Snyder will be serving a two-year term, and will attend meetings twice yearly.



Ronnie Hickman, Eagle southpaw, tossed a six-hitter in the second game of a double-header Monday against Borger with the Eagles winning 7-3. The Canyon team came from behind in the last inning of the first game to win 13-12. Coach Bob Sloan's Eagles have won their last three games and stand 6-10 for the season.

Western Painting To Raise Funding

Canyon Booster Club members are presenting an original oil painting of a western scene of Palo Duro Canyon for the public. The 24 x 30 canvas was done by western artist Jim Ward of Canyon.

Funds from the project will be designated to the Kelly Forehand Fund in an effort to raise a portion of the $6,000 recently required to purchase a specially equipped van for Kelly's mobility. Kelly, a CHS athlete, was injured seriously in a fall football game while playing for his alma mater.

Tickets are $1 each and are available at both the West Texas State Bank and First National Bank of Canyon.

ROTC Drill Meet At WT

Ten high school ROTC drill teams from Amarillo, Lubbock, and Wichita Falls will compete in the fourth annual West Texas State University Scabbard & Blade Invitational Drill Meet April 15 at the West Texas Activities Center.

The drill meet will consist of four phases: inspection, regulation drill, exhibition drill, and individual drill. First and second place trophies will be awarded beginning at 2 p.m. to individual and team winners in each of the four phases of the competition.

Sweepstakes and runner-up trophies will be awarded to the teams accumulating the highest total points for the meet. Pre-meet favorites for the sweepstakes competition appear to be Caprock High School of Amarillo and S.H. Rider High School of Wichita Falls.

The public is invited to view these outstanding high school men and women drill teams. There will be no admission charge.

℞ ORAL CONTRACEPTIVES

Have you wondered why you need a prescription for these pills—or why your doctor restricts the number of months you may be "on them"?

Well, of course, he knows that these hormones are not entirely harmless. For instance, any of the following "over-the counter" medications could possibly affect, or be affected by oral contraceptives:

Antihistamines – Sedatives, tranquilizers
Insulin – Even certain vitamins!

So, don't take any medicines without being sure. If in doubt, ask your doctor or your pharmacist.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

Female ROTC Student Finds Coursework A Challenge

West Texas State University student Susan Compton from Hereford has narrowed her career down to two choices. She plans to either make the Army her career or be a policewoman.

"I did plan to major in law enforcement, but West Texas State only offers administration and criminal justice, so I decided to take ROTC," the Hereford junior said.

"Early in high school I decided I wanted to be in the service. I would've enlisted after graduation but my grandmother wanted me to go to college.

She attended a junior college in Big Spring for two years and decided to come to WT to complete her education, because "it had what I wanted in the ROTC program."

Because WT does not offer a major in military science, Susan is minoring in ROTC and majoring in general studies, a liberal arts program.

In military science lab, the women participate in all that the men do except carry weapons.

"We can't go into offensive tactics and we can't carry weapons. We're not involved in combat arms at all," Susan explained.

Susan's lecture class is a night class concerned with military theory and as an advanced military cadet, she receives $100 monthly.

After graduation in December 1976, Susan plans to enter the military police branch of the Army for four years. She is currently a staff sergeant and could graduate as a major.

After the four years are completed, Susan plans to enter a police academy or continue in the Army for a career. She has written to several academies in Texas already.

"If I get enough experience, I'd really like to go plainclothes and be an undercover narcotics agent. It all depends."

On weekends she works as a guard for the Amarillo Security Guard Control.

"They only let the girls cover manufacturing plants," she said.

Susan is the daughter of the Lane S. Comptons, 227 Aspen, Hereford.

Funeral Rites Set On Thursday

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday, March 27, at Bryan Street Church in Lamesa for Abe Furlow, 84, who died in the Lamesa Hospital Tuesday morning.

Mr. Furlow is survived by four sons; a daughter; a brother, R.T. Furlow of Canyon; and a sister, Mrs. Donnie Collins, formerly of Canyon now residing in Three Oaks, Michigan.

University Student Plans To Pursue Master's In Law

WTSU — After graduation Mary Lou Mercado, West Texas State University junior, from Hereford, plans to work on her master's in law. But before that, she has other things to do.

Seminar Held

The West Texas State University College of Education had a seminar on leadership for sponsors of student organizations at the Amarillo Travelodge last week. Co-sponsoring the event with WT was the Center for Public School Ethnic Studies of the University of Texas at Austin.

This was the second weekend of workshops given by the two universities for 40 participants from Amarillo, Hereford, Pampa, Dumas, Tulia, Borger and Canyon. Local and area administrators, teachers and students organization sponsors will attend.

Keynote speaker for the Friday night banquet was Dr. William E. Barron, UT dean of the extension service.

Participants analyzed what to do about the non-involved student, the minority student and the bused student. They examined the importance of the student organization in the total school picture, and looked at whether it has kept up with the times and whether the entrance requirements are realistic. Dr. Jack Nance, WT College of Education coordinator of human relation studies, directed the sessions.

Mary Lou, a member of El Chicano, is majoring in social work and minoring in Spanish and psychology and is a member of the Student Senate.

In the Senate, she is chairman of the Student Life Committee and of the Student Services Fee, a special committee created by Dr. Lloyd Watkins, University president.

The special committee was appointed to submit a report on allocations provided by the fee to the administration.

As chairman of the committee, Mary Lou has researched allocations and possible options in paying the activity fee in addition to planning a student opinion poll concerning the mandatory fee.

In addition to her activities, Mary Lou enjoys the University as a whole.

"WT was the closest four-year school for me. I did look at Texas Tech and the University of Texas at El Paso, but decided on here."

"The student-teacher ratio here is much lower. I've met a lot of people and learned a lot of things," she said.

"It's just a good all-around school with an easy-going manner," she continued.

After graduation, Mary Lou plans to work a year "for experience" and attend law school either out-of-state or at the Univeristy of Texas at Austin.

Mary Lou is the daughter of Jesus Mercado, Box 63, Dawn, Texas.

IN THE CLASSROOM, Mary Lou Mercado, a WTSU junior, is a diligent student with plans to pursue her master's degree in law following the receipt of her degree at West Texas State University.

Students Earn Pay, Credit As Interns

For credit, pay and working experience, six students work at participating businesses as a part of the Office Administration Internship and Conference course of the School of Business at West Texas State University.

The students, not necessarily office administration majors, need the consent of the instructor to take the course.

To earn three hours credit, the students are required to work 180 clock hours in prearranged operational activities in a designated business enterprise, Mrs. Willie J. McCall, assistant professor in office administration, said.

The 28 businesses participating in the program are located in Canyon, Amarillo, Claude, Dalhart, Follett, Pampa, Lubbock, Midland and West Texas State University.

Although no classes are involved in the program, conferences are arranged between Mrs. McCall and the student.

"I usually visit the girl three times during the semester and see how she's getting along in her job. Sometimes I talk with the employer to find out where she needs help," Mrs. McCall said.

"If they need assistance, I refer them to books and articles relating to their job field and sometimes assign them some office work to help them."

Objectives of the program include giving the student work experience to coordinate with her training and a chance to broaden her education, working under the supervision of qualified business people, she explained.

"It gives the student a chance to see what kind of a job they can get. The program really aids the community, also, because it gives them a chance to get the good students."

Students submit periodic reports and employers fill out appraisal reports including comments about job knowledge, work quality and personal characteristics.

Mrs. McCall requires one project per semester related to the student's job.

"If the student's job is particularly demanding, I don't require a project," Mrs. McCall said.

The course, which has been in existence for five years, can be repeated once for credit.

Students participating in the program are Kathy Acker, Canyon senior; Mary Hasse, Pampa senior; Kathleen Huseman, Amarillo senior; Kathryn Manz, Canyon senior; Sheree Rundell, Farwell senior; and Kathy Langford, Littlefield sophomore.

Mary Hasse, Pampa senior, works at Warner Seed Company in Hereford Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday as secretary. A secretarial business major, she plans to continue as a secretary after graduation in May and may go into management later.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hasse, 1704 Christine, Pampa.

Canyon senior, Kathryn Manz, works as a secretary for the Dairy Counsel, Inc. in Amarillo. She is an art major and plans to go into an art field after graduation.

Kathryn is the daughter of Joe Manz, 3210 Conner, Canyon.

Amarillo senior, Kathleen Huseman, works as area manager at Northwest Texas Hospital. She supervises unit clerks and orders supplies and equipment.

The business administration major is the daughter of Vincent Huseman of Nazareth.

Kathy Acker, Canyon senior, serves as secretarial and clerical help to the Amarillo law firm of Tom Upchurch, Jr. A secretarial studies major, she plans to continue in the legal field after graduation.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Walker, 1209 Boyd, Borger.

Four year secretarial studies major, Sheree Rundell, works as a secretary for the WT Methodist Student Center. The Farwell senior plans to continue secretarial work after graduation. She is the daughter of Mrs. Johnnie Rundell, Box 348, Farwell.

Kathy Langford, Littlefield sophomore, is employed at Ordway Saunders Securities Corporation in Amarillo. The secretarial studies major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Langford, Star Route 2, Littlefield.
